

What is a compliance-accepting entity?

PCI SSC FAQ | Article 1536 | October 2021

When assessment results are associated with compliance programs defined and managed by one or more payment brands, the compliance-accepting entity is the entity to which those assessment results (for example, a Report on Compliance) are submitted. The compliance-accepting entity is typically a payment brand or acquirer.

Source: <https://www.pcisecuritystandards.org/faqs/1536/>